

Where can I get help or support for Bareos?

Community support

Bareos is a community project. You are welcome to join our mailinglists to ask questions or help others, all information can be found on the community page.

Professional support

The project founders have also setup a company that not only sponsors the project but also prepares a network of open source companies to jointly deliver support and consulting around Bareos. There will also be a subscription service for customers who prefer to have maintained quality assured packages built out of the open source software. Please read more on the website for these commercial offerings: www.bareos.com.
